Season Recap

The 2013 golfing season was one of the best for business at Muskeg Meadows. The weather was phenomenal from the beginning of the spring to the very end of summer.

We started the season, April 1st when there was still a bit of snow in the shady areas throughout the golf course. Local golfers and visitors from Petersburg and Ketchikan, Alaska were chomping at the bit, excited for the golf season to begin. Muskeg Meadows had several returning golfers who come to Wrangell each summer to fish commercially, or guide hunting trips.

As summer progressed, those folks became busy with their work and had less time to golf; however, new faces emerged. We had several golf tours booked through Alaska Vistas from golfers aboard the large cruise ships that visited Wrangell for the day.

And several more golfers that visited Muskeg Meadows from the smaller cruises. The weather was fabulous, and new Muskeg Meadows banner flag displayed at City dock was inviting to several more guests to Muskeg Meadows who were touring Wrangell, and South-east Alaska from around the world. Over the summer, several golf pros played at Muskeg Meadows. Eric Lucas, travel writer for Alaska Airlines Magazine visited the golf course to write a future article for the magazine.

The Wrangell Golf Club welcomed over a dozen new club members this season. And the love of the game was sparked in the hearts of at least a dozen more of all ages.

The amount of young golfers that attended the youth golf events throughout this season were more than ever seen in the past. We seen large attendances for the Wrangell Parks and Recs summer youth program, Wrangell High School Golf Club, Petersburg Middle School exploratory day in Wrangell at Muskeg Meadows, and the Boy Scouts of America Youth Tournament. Unlike last year, where I hosted several fun competitions on the driving range for families with children, this year time did not permit, but regardless, the driving range turned out to be a hot item this year. Individuals often hit a bucket of balls on their lunch hour throughout the weekdays. And several families who are new to the game this year, had come out for a day of family time, practicing on the range together.

The Wrangell Golf Club Youth Leaders, Don and Bonnie Roher offered golf lessons for men, women, couples, and children several times throughout the summer. Their lessons always began on the driving range.

Also mentoring golf again this year for the ladies was club member, Kathy Sandness. And men's golf mentor, club member, Tom Wolford.

Faye Kohrt has also offered mentorship to children of all skill levels.

The tournament schedule this season was jammed packed with events each weekend, as well as some weekdays. Each tournament was a great success, but there were a few sponsors who kicked up the ante with extra prizes, contests and drawings. The first extra special event was the Angerman's Inc. and Outlet

Store's kickoff tournament, dinner and auction. The local family owned sporting goods store, Angerman's Inc. and Outlet Store put on a great membership drive weekend with an annual membership potluck dinner and live auction. At the tournament, with prizes such as Angerman's gift certificates, XtraTuf boots, Mustang and Northface jackets, salmon rod and reel and Grunden's namewear. Leonard Angerman as Auctioneer was funny and lively and kept the crowd energized and in stitches. W.G.C. raised over $4000.00 during the Angerman's membership drive weekend.

The next big event was the Wrangell Medical Center Foundation's Annual Fundraiser/Brian Gilbert Memorial where Miss Alaska, and her pageant director made a guest appearance, sang the National Anthem and served beverages from the club cart during the tournament. Along with a $2,500 purse for the placing teams, and a $25,000 Hole-in-one opportunity the WMC Foundation Fundraiser offers special advantages golfers can purchase such as the "Tiger Woods Drive" and "Mulligans". After the game, Wrangell Medical Center hosts their dinner and auction where Miss Alaska is the guest speaker and auctioneer's assistant.

Another main attraction was the Elks Father's Day tournament and picnic. The format was geared towards families. This special family game led into a great picnic with bbq burgers and hot dog meals. The Elks and Emblem Club host several fun competitions for children, such as a sawdust pile dive for quarters, a putting contest and a driving range contest. Horse-shoe tournaments, chipping contests and driving range competitions for adults is also in the mix. Added to the Elks events is the American Legion's flag burning ceremony, which set the tone of respect and togetherness for the entire day.

Summer Solstice is always a happening time at the golf course. R&M Engineering hosts the events over the longest days of the year, where a large boatload of corporate owners and tournament subsponsors from Ketchikan, get together for the weekend of golf at Muskeg Meadows. Kicking off their weekend this year, Friday evening was a make-up game sponsored by City Market which had been called on account of rain earlier in the season. The boat load of golfers disembarked and immediately made their way to Muskeg Meadows.

R&M Engineering provide a buffet picnic for the golfers during the tournament with a beefed-up manly menu of food and drinks. Stikine Sportsmen Association has requested to permanently host the Friday night golf event leading into R&M Engineering's tournament in the future.

The next big events were leading into the fourth of July. Ottesen's True Value hosted a spin on their format, straying away from the typical Best Ball they chose to host a Mystery Scramble. That kind of game is played as an individual handicap. The scorekeeper randomly draws names to put together four-person teams. Using each golfers handicap, the scorekeeper finds the average, and that figure will be given as the team handicap. The chosen team with the lowest net score wins.

Ottesen's also offers prize drawings galore! With a grand prize grill. Other great prizes include Ottesen's gift certificates, fishing rod/reel combos, camping gear, picnic cooler, garden kit, power tools, binoculars, weedeater, and so much more! Each participant of the tournament got their name put in for the drawings, and those who played each day entered their name twice. Carolyn Ottesen, and Ernie Christian with Ottesen's True Value generously donated a good portion of the materials for the new covered motor cart parking garage. They have also contributed to keeping the golf course beautiful by donated over fifty ornamental shrubs which were planted throughout the golf course. This year, at the Ottesen's tournament Ernie Christian was "flocked" with pink flamingos. The pink flamingos were a fundraiser by Kayla Rooney who was a royalty candidate for the fourth of July.

Independence Day is great time of year for families to get together in hometown Wrangell and celebrate all day with festivities and food downtown. The W.G.C. hosts two events downtown on the fourth of July. The Angerman family, along with some Wrangell Golf Club Board of Directors cook and serve Ken Davidson's World Famous Bratwursts from a booth after the parade. In the afternoon Muskeg Meadows sets up a chipping contest at the lawn of City Hall.

The weekend after the fourth when families and guests were still visiting Wrangell, Northland Services held their tournament. Guests from near and far attended this main event. Tournament sponsor, Jim Shoemaker kept the mix of formats going with an individual handicap format after the Best Ball. Proceeding the individuals tournament, Shoemaker offered a special $500 chipping contest. Along with extra prize money for the placing teams were drawings for gift cards at local shops and eateries.

Alaska Airlines brought in people from across Alaska and Washington. Several new golfers tried their luck at several chances to win Alaska Airlines tickets. Alaska Airlines has something extra fun and special in store next year for the entire community, not just golfers. First Bank did not let anyone down during their annual Customer Appreciation golf tournament. Along with proving a barbecue picnic lunch for all the golfers and guests, the First Bank Reps put on a special $30,000 Hole-In-One opportunity.

The Wrangell Bearfest tournament was a great time that brought in people from near and far to celebrate the bears of Southeast Alaska. Guest appearance, sitting on the Straightest Drive line was the painted Bearfest bear, "City Bear".

A special golf event sponsored by Wrangell Senior Apartments was the Alvin Kaer Memorial. Al Kaer was a board member and renter of the Wrangell Senior Apartments and was an avid golfer, and a Wrangell Golf Club Charter member. Al Kaer passed away in 2010, after a battle with cancer.

Another hot item on the tournament list was the Wrangell Medical Center Foundation Cancer Care Fundraiser. WMC put on another fun filled event for Ladies to raise money for local Southeast Alaska cancer victims.

Ketchikan and Petersburg joined local gals to raise money for cancer care support for any cancer victim in Southeast Alaska. This annual ladies only golf event is based on a nine-hole Best Ball format, with spins and twists. Two fairways are closed off to play and have designated rest areas. And the remaining fairways are set up with fun & frolic golf games.

As we got over the peak of the season things did not slow down at the golf course. Stikine Sportsmen and Breakaway Adventures sweetened the pot with extra giveaways. Stikine Sportsmen Association generously donated an extra $400 for the placing teams, and Breakaway Adventures donated a Stikine River Jet Boat Tour or LeConte Glacier tour for four people!

The two most prestigious events are the Ryder Cup, Petersburg vs, Wrangell, which takes place at the beginning of the season, and the Club Championship which is at the end of the season. At these two events, serious golfers get together to compete for the title and trophy.

2014 is gearing up to include a new tournament sponsor. The Salty Dawg yacht races will be coming to Wrangell from Washington state. Boaters will start their race in the San Juan Islands of Washington state with their final destination in Wrangell, Ak, June 14, 15 and 16th. Their golf tournament will be Monday, June 16th.

While the golf events progressed throughout the season, course management had an issue with the ravens to contend with. The Rasmuson Foundation gave $25,000 to the Wrangell Golf Club for course repair after the ravens devastated an entire fairway last year. Because of the extensive damage to the fairways this year, management modified the yardage and changed the pars on two holes, which allowed the game to play around the damaged and healing areas.

Compared to last year, the damaged areas caused by ravens throughout the golf course were more frequent and severe. Management has an environmental friendly strategy for eliminating the raven's food source.

While course modifications, and the areas marked ground under repair were underway, it did not slow down the golfers.

Along with great weather and near perfect golfing conditions for most of the season, golfers got to enjoy new sets of golf club rentals. RAM brand clubs designed for beginner golfers. New sets for men and women in both left and right handed. Currently, Muskeg Meadows has approximately a dozen sets of junior golf club rentals in most sizes from toddler to preteen.

Also new this year to Muskeg Meadows is driving range netting, which was donated by Joe Plesha with Trident Seafoods. Although coordinating work efforts to get the net installed proved to be a challenge this year, current plans are to install the netting at the beginning of the 2014 golf season. This summer the new hardware on each pole was installed by the City of Wrangell Utility department with the use of their lift truck.

Construction projects were throughout the golf course this season. Some projects included a new motor cart garage and new steps to the back porches of the Proshop and driving range, resurfacing fairway number three, maintaining the raven damage and a fresh coat of paint to the front deck of the Proshop. More maintenance projects are scheduled for next season.
